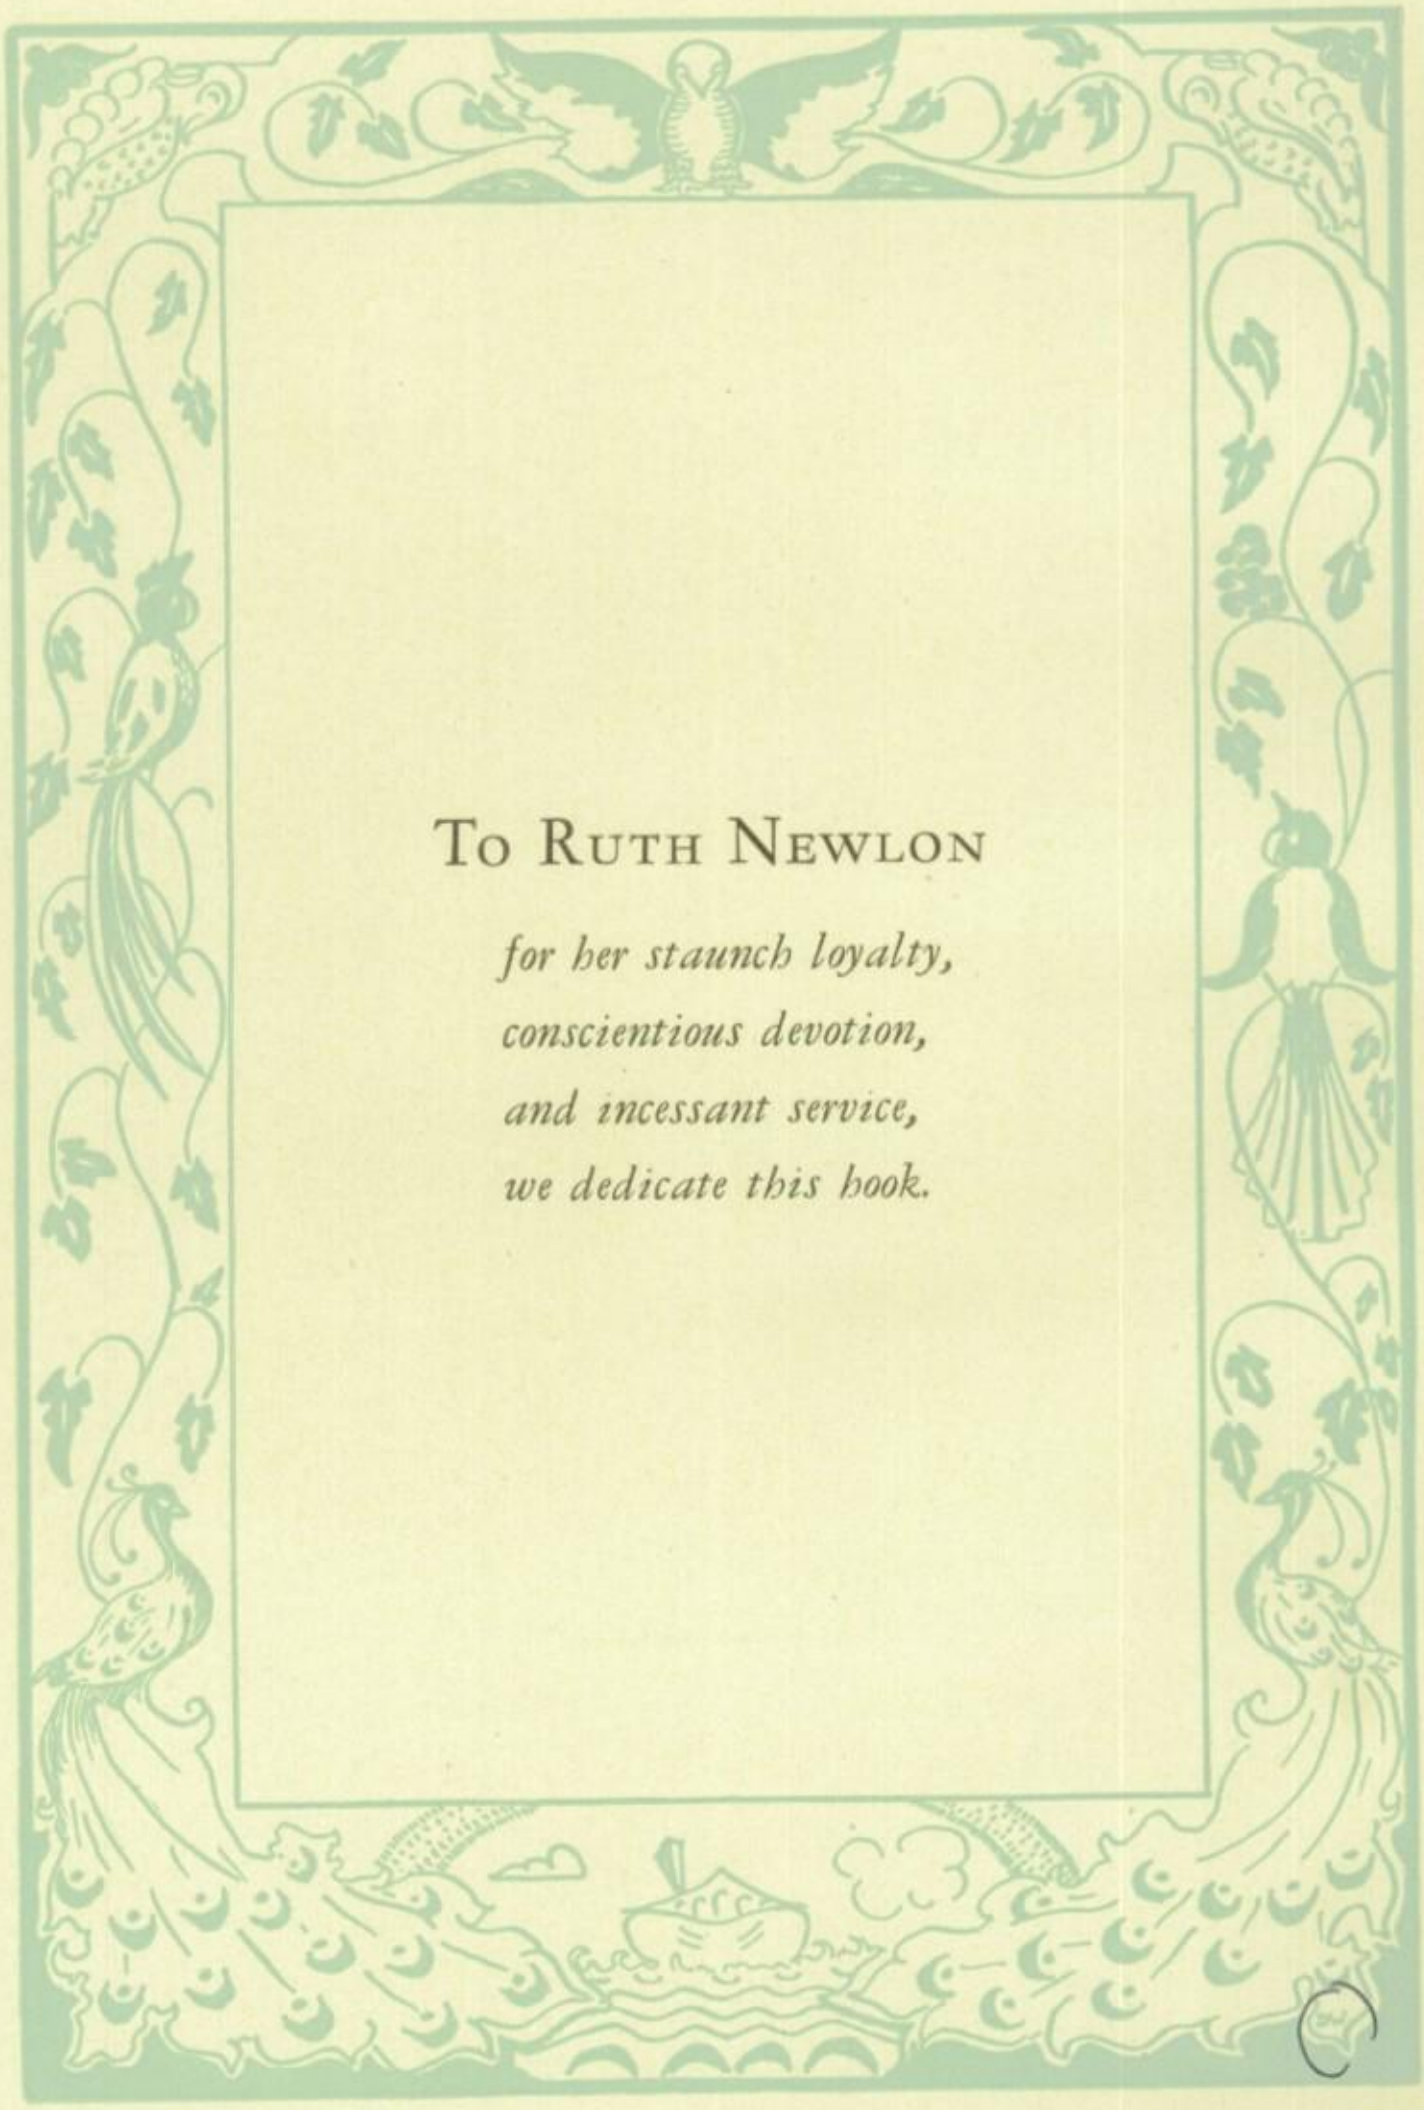
Forth from the Ark

THE YEAR BOOK
of the
SENIOR CLASS
of
SOUTH HIGH SCHOOL

DENVER, COLORADO

1933



To Ruth Newlon

for her staunch loyalty,
conscientious devotion,
and incessant service,
we dedicate this book.

Ruth Newlon

MOTIF

South has been a safe and happy place
while distress, like a flood,
overwhelmed the world.
Now, with an olive leaf,
has the dove returned,
a bow of promise spans the sky,
and soon, every living thing
will go forth from the ark.

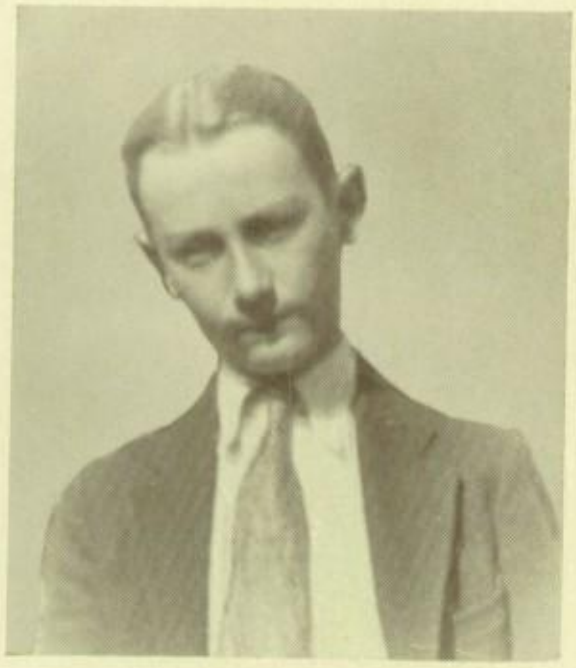
In Memoriam



JACK RISLEY

Born July 17, 1917

Died Dec. 22, 1932

South sophomores mourn the loss of Jack, who was well liked by both teachers and fellow students. He had a fine trustworthy character.

CHARLES MERCER

Born Dec. 23, 1916

Died Nov. 1, 1932

Charles' passing leaves the sophomores without one of their best friends. Charles, even as a sophomore took an active part in the Cadet activities.

In Memoriam

ARTHUR K. MCRAE, JR.

Born April 7, 1915 Died September 23, 1932

Our loss of Arthur Jr., a senior and charter member of the Rebel Rangers, is deeply mourned by us all. Sincere, gentle, staunch and kind, he was the best of friends. His untimely passing leaves us but the knowledge that his spirit lives with us, and we find it worthy of our love.

Noah's Sons and their Wives

MR. CORY

The Principal

That every individual may have the opportunity, the encouragement, the guidance, and the help to develop those ideals, attitudes, abilities, and habits which will enable him to discover, accept, and fulfill his obligations to a growing self and a changing society.

Your activities and acquaintances of today are your memories and friendships of tomorrow. May your life be rich in both, and may the 1933 edition of South's year book be a constant reminder of this wealth.

—John J. Cory.

The Principal's Assistants

ROSA M. SCHODER,

Dean of Girls

To keep growing in health, knowledge, appreciation, understanding so as to be able to meet all situations calmly, to solve all problems satisfactorily, to see what work needs to be done and to do it well.

Besides school, I am interested in cooking, gardening, seeing new places and people.—Rosa M. Schoder.

REX V. CURTIS,

Assistant Principal

To do one's best at all times is certainly not only a good educational philosophy but a rule of life guaranteed to keep one enthusiastic and progressive.

My other interests are athletics, and my home and family.—Rex V. Curtis.

Faculty

The primary function of this book is to depict the tenor at South. Consequently—these bits of educational philosophy from the teachers.

ALICE H. ARONSON, English

Learn to live, and living, learn.
A horse and some skiis.

ALFHILD ALENIUS, Mathematics

"The entire object of true education is to make people not merely do the right things, but enjoy the right things—not merely industrious, but to love industry."—Ruskin.
Travel, church organizations.

NELLIE M. BAILEY, Social Science

The school furnishes opportunity for development. The pupil brings ability and willingness to grow. The teacher helps the pupil appreciate his opportunity and guides his development.
Mountain home and garden.

REBEKAH J. BARON, English

One cannot give it all here, but this is one item in it. Life is always our teacher, but some lessons can be learned more quickly, more conveniently and at a lower cost by means of organized education. Through devoted friends called teachers these lessons may be learned early, and then we are free to learn directly from life itself, growing in wisdom and even, if we are capable, progressing farther than did the generations of the past.
The theater, music, gardening, home-making, literature, friends, travel.

SARA S. BLANCH, Home Economics

Education is not the mere gaining of facts but is development. It can not be presented by one person to another as are other rare gifts. Our own efforts to acquire it are rewarded by an ability to meet emergencies with wisdom and intelligence.
Homemaking.

HELEN A. BURNHAM, Home Economics

To help boys and girls to do better the desirable things which they will do anyway.
Writing, sports, and church organizations.

VERA V. CAMPBELL, Librarian

"How shall I know, unless I go
To Cairo and Cathay
Whether or not this blessed spot
Is blest in every way?
Now it may be, the flower for me
Is this beneath my nose;
How shall I tell, unless I smell
The Carthaginian rose?"—Millay
Traveling, both hither and yon.

NORRIS F. BUSH, Chemistry

The stimulation of high school students to be intelligently curious of the world about them so that they can take an intelligent ever-increasing part in its management. I also believe that a teacher should attempt to show, by example, the value of conscientiousness, patience, and work.
Sports. Especially golf, hockey and basketball.—Music.

FLORENCE G. CARLSON, Physical Education

Not just a teacher but also a student—trying to develop good leaders and better followers.
Drama, dancing and music.

CAPTAIN HOWARD T. CLARK, U. S. Army Cadets

Development of leadership by first learning "followship".
Swimming, automobile touring, and camping.

Faculty

EFFIE M. CLINE, Social Science

To be rather than to have. To develop body, mind, soul. To control self. To respect others. To love and serve home, country, God.

Books, friends, and travel.

ROBERT COLLIER, Chemistry

ODETTE L. COMBS, French

The desire to be fitted, physically, intellectually and morally to get the best and the most out of life.

Art.

M. JANETTE CONINE, Art

Life to be worthwhile to ourselves and others must be developed as fully as possible; we need many contacts and an open mind, we need to know how to benefit from our contacts and experiences.

I hear all the music I possibly can. I love the out-of-doors and reading and studying French and playing with the babies in our family and painting landscapes.

RILLA DAWSON, Clerk

Accuracy, fairness, and understanding in granting excuses. I like the students.

Reading, dancing, house work, tennis, hiking, scrap-books, and embroidery.

FLORENCE L. DIMM, Languages

To know how to tackle effectively each problem as it comes; to enjoy knowledge and accomplishment for their own sakes, to love people, nature, books, and God; and to be an acceptable member of society—these are the things I would teach.

Tennis, skiing, horseback riding, swimming, travel, summer camps, Girl Reserves and Sunday-school work, drawing, painting, clay-modelling, nature-study, mountain climbing, and learning new languages.

MARIAN H. EMMONS, English

"Let knowledge grow from more to more, but more of wisdom in us dwell."

Friends, reading, travel, and automobile driving.

ELLA JANE FELLOWS, English

Acquiring skills, experience, and intellectual interest, learning how to live with oneself and with others, preparing for service and life through serving and living, this is education as it is life.

Skiing, mountain climbing, tennis and other sports, stenography, and business administration.

JULIA H. GARDINER, Mathematics

In each individual should be developed the knowledge, ideals, habits and attitudes of conduct and of mind whereby he will become a worthy member of society.

Reading and travel.

MARY K. GRAY, Commercial

When a student completes a course in business arithmetic, he not only knows arithmetic and its shortest methods but he has acquired the habit of checking everything he does.

He has the ability to work alone or with his group. He has the ability to think his problem through. And, as the Easter lily requires the rich earthy foundations, for its ultimate blossoming, so the business arithmetic student requires for later business success the rich earthy qualities of honesty, courage, reliability, accuracy, neatness and stick-to-itiveness.

Athletics, a ride on a favorite horse.

Faculty

EDGAR W. GRIGS, Science

To help each individual to select a life's work in which he may find a sense of real enjoyment and satisfaction that will result in his complete development and consequent happiness.

The great out-of-doors and its inhabitants.

CARLETON HALL, Commercial

The sympathetic development of the child to his social optimum.

Pal to my six year old son, fishing, and all kinds of sports.

EVERETT HANEL, Biology

What you are is of little importance as compared to what you are becoming.

Mountain camping trips.

WILLIAM W. HATTEN, Sgt. U. S. Army, Cadets

Special study of all weapons of the infantry, regular army and the expert use of same.

No other interest.

WILLIAM H. HEAGNEY, Physics

"I am not a teacher; only a fellow-traveller of whom you ask the way. I pointed ahead—ahead of myself as of you." —Shaw.

Golf and some experimental work.

GLADYS HUNTER, Secretary

To help the other person to realize his best self; never to discuss anyone else's affairs. Courtesy, efficiency, kindliness, understanding, and fairness in my work as a secretary.

Poem and philosophy scrap book, cooking, church work, music, reading, tennis, and hiking.

SARAH RACHEL ISBELL, Science

The purpose of education is to teach our young people how to live a fuller and better life, mentally, morally and physically. Having learned the rules necessary to attain their ideals it is up to them to apply them. Having learned that spinach is good for us we should eat it and enjoy it whether we like it or not.

Skiing, horseback riding, and going to the mountains.

HOWARD L. JOHNSON, Physical Education, Football Coach

Education in high school is the proper application of the individual to prepare himself for the general society he will enter as he grows older.

Family and more athletics.

HAL D. KENDIG, Industrial Arts

Sports: golf, baseball, volley-ball.

MARTHA NUTTER KIMBALL, Social Science

Education is living sanely and wisely.

Too numerous to mention.

Faculty

KENNETH I. KOHL, Industrial Arts, Baseball Coach

The number of diplomas a young man has in his pocket isn't half as important as the amount of determination he has in his head.

BARBARA I. McBREEN, Social Science

Joy in work, appreciation in opportunity, satisfaction in accomplishment, generous giving of self—all make for a life of beauty and usefulness.

Music, homemaking, gardening, and advancement of my professional organizations.

F. M. McCULLEY, Commercial

The purpose of school: "To learn to do the thing I know I ought to do, at the time I ought to do it, whether I want to do it or not."

Hiking and motoring.

KATHERINE COLLINS MEANY, Spanish

To present the principles of Spanish in an atmosphere that will arouse and hold the students' interest and to leave with them at the end of the course a body of cultural information that will stand them in good stead even after the study of Spanish is finished.

Books, music, golf, riding, and travel.

BELLE V. MILLER, Latin

"Ah, but a man's reach should exceed his grasp. Or what's a heaven for?"—From Robert Browning in Andrea del Sarto.

Play and plays.

WILLIAM L. MILLER, Social Science, Football, Basketball and Track Coach

Take nothing for granted. Examine everything with a critical eye, reserving final judgment until all evidence has been examined. Continually ask why.

Athletics.

ROY L. MORRIS, Biology

Life holds a lot of interest for all—help develop that interest.

Woodwork, shopwork, and the general things to be done around a home.

HARRIET L. MEYER, Commercial

Our best efforts are necessary in work as well as in play. When working, work hard, when it's time to play, play hard at wholesome play.

Club activities, music, gardening, and travel.

B. O. MOLES, Physical Education

To live most and serve best.

FLORENCE MURRAY, Library Clerk

"'Tis education forms the common mind; as the twig is bent, the tree's inclined."—Pope.

Social Service work.

Faculty

ELOISE G. NELSON, Commercial, School Treasurer

In every experience to find that which is of value in wiser analysis and fuller understanding and appreciation of those experiences to come.

Keeping busy, and writing shorthand.

LORAINE NELSON, Music

To maintain a balanced appreciation of laughter, of work, of the beautiful; to think clearly through to reach a conclusion; to vision a goal, then work consistently to realize that goal.

Somtimes to mingle with the throngs on busy city streets, sometimes to listen to the music of the masters, other times to be among the tall pines and rugged mountain peaks.

RUTH NEWLON, English, Newspaper, Annual

Education means a personal philosophy, poise, and better living and service.

A family, reading, mountain trips, friends.

ELIZABETH H. PESMAN, Social Science

Good schools are the happiest and hopefullest of workshops where we are all hammering and forging to produce the healthy bodies, the clear intellects and the splendid characters which will make this old world safe for humanity.

Mothering, mountaineering, and make-believing.

HELEN B. PHELPS, Social Science

It is fun to grow but boring to vegetate.

The out-of-doors.

JESS M. RANDOL, Social Science

We learn thru our own activity.

Golf.

M. C. REBELL, Commercial

To have a high batting average of your own is infinitely more important than having a storehouse of knowledge of the batting averages of baseball stars.

I believe that there is more to life than money and that the measure of a man's success is what he is and what he does, not what he has.

With all thy getting, get understanding.

Climbing peaks and taking hikes.

OPAL BRADSHAW RIDDELL, Social Science

"Learn to live, and live to learn,
Ignorance like a fire doth burn,
Little tasks make large return."—Taylor.

Simple as:

A—stands for Antics, everyone needs some fun—
B—stands for a Boy, who surely makes things hum—
C—stands for Church, to complete the total sum.

RUTH RINGLAND, Spanish

To help and watch the developing of interesting personalities.

Traveling, seeing interesting places, and meeting interesting people.

J. T. ROBERTS, Music

Music in the public schools is not only for the student but for the entire community.

Athletics.

Faculty

ELIZABETH H. ROLAND, Commercial

To help each individual to be able to live with others and to make it possible for us to fit into any position in which our ability and education may place us.

Just dreaming.

JENNIE STARK RUDOLPH, English

To help develop in the modern youth, the power to think straight in the complex problems of individual and community life; to build up the courage to face such problems undismayed; to aid him in acquiring the adjustability to live and work in harmony with other people for the best interests of the home and society; to discover individual talent and develop it as far as possible; to awaken an appreciation of all that is beautiful in literature and life, particularly of the good in other people of whatever race or creed; and to impart a stronger sense of responsibility for self-help, for responsiveness to his neighbor's need, and for active participation in civic privileges and duties.

I am particularly fond of biography, music and travel.

REN G. SHEARER, Physics

Education deals with the life problems of the individual, increases the number of occasions for thought and action, and provides for intelligent evaluations toward the most significant social ends.

Landscape architecture.

RUTH SOPER, Clerk

"He teaches who gives, and he learns who receives."
—R. W. Emerson.

Reading, travel, and camp life in the mountains.

HENRY R. SPANGLER, Industrial Arts

More benefit comes from doing a few small jobs well than from doing many larger jobs half-way and also from learning to think and reason for oneself.

Divided interest in almost everything under the sun.

JULIA STEERE, Physical Education

To imbue respect for authority, and a sense of fair play, to try to teach thoroughly a few things, trusting in Providence the while that the nervous "cistern" and the disposition won't wear too thin.

Poking out pitiful pieces on the portable.

F. A. ST. JOHN, Mathematics

A teacher cannot teach a person anything; he can only provide the opportunity to learn. The teacher's task is (1) provide the best possible opportunity to learn; (2) urge, coax, inspire, persuade and command the learner to seize the opportunity offered.

Small daughter, home. Amateur photography, chess, mountains, and travel.

LELA B. STRONG, Home Economics

The best teachers climb beyond teaching to the plane of art; it is themselves, and what is best in themselves, that they communicate.

To live out of doors with the trees and the mountains is of all lives the most complete and free.

EDITH H. SUMMERS, English

"From sleek contentment keep me free."

Seeing people, going places, and doing things.

EDITH A. SWADLEY, Home Economics

To assist each individual to a better expression of his personality.

Music.

Faculty

HELEN TILLOTSON, English

Opportunity for every child to acquire to the limit of his ability an education of hand, heart, and mind that will enable him to live a happy, useful, intelligent life.

Books and gardens and two young nieces.

LOUISA A. WARD, Librarian

An intelligent reader has at his command the mental resources of the world.

Mountains.

ILA F. WEBBER, Commercial

I believe that every young person should be given the opportunity for training wherein he will learn to do something worth while; not only for making his living, but for using his leisure time.

My garden.

MRS. CORA WESTHAVER, English

"We cannot fashion children after our own design;
Such as God gave them to us, just so must we take them and love them,
Train them in what is accepted as right,
Allow each to develop his own talent and in his own way
For all have different talents."—Goethe.

Homemaking and family life, reading, travel, and women's clubs.

LEON K. WHITNEY, English

Speech that aims not at a mark is likely to miss.

Vegetable gardening (on a small scale).

ART WILLIAMS, Mathematics, Industrial Arts, Science

Education should be made as practical as possible. We can hope to interest our students only when the work applies to their living, everyday situations.

Movies and long automobile trips.

JESSE R. WOOD, JR., Social Science, Mathematics

Life is growth, proper growth can be aided best by an education which helps both the individual and society in all the phases of a changing civilization.

Business statistics and economic research; transportation problems.

Faculty members whose pictures are not on panels

AGNES V. CLANCY, Social Science

Be alert, be interested, be open-minded, be tolerant.

People, travel, and books.

EVA HARRISON, English

To form our ideas on the background of the experience and ideas of others.

Flowers and gardens.

RUTH MORRISON, Mathematics

Education is a process by which the person is enabled to handle himself for the betterment of society with an ever increasing degree of efficiency.

I am interested in "Life as it expresses itself in various forms of manifestations."

BOYD CHASE POTTER

Senior Class Officers

EDGAR BOYD, president
HERBERT CHASE, vice president
FRANCES POTTER, secretary

The Rebel stronghold is proud of its senior class. As the upperclassmen receive their diplomas on the ninth of June, South will say goodbye to one of the strongest, most ambitious classes ever to enter her folds.

The senior prom was the height of the season's gaieties at Christmas time. Also, at Christmas, the Tuckaway orphans were made happy by the seniors. The Clean-up was presented as their dramatic production.

Post Graduates

When the long long trail through high school is ended, it seems that a few have not had enough work, teachers, etc., and they trail back to school for another year. It is very doubtful, however, that it is the work that they enjoy, but the feeling that for once after their twelve years of school life, they can come to school, have a good time and not have to worry about studying. At least that seems to be the idea of a post graduate course.

It is almost impossible to include in a regular high school course everything that one desires and therefore post graduates have an extra advantage.

This year twelve of these fortunate persons returned to their good old alma mater and proved that after all there isn't much more that they can do that is as interesting as going to school.

MacColl Rhoads Harrison

The Sophomore Class

Jim MacColl, president
Dorothy Rhoads, vice president
Jane Harrison, secretary

Eight hundred and nine students entered South this year as sophomores. The great majority of them came from Byers and Grant.

Those who were chosen by the class to be its representatives and leaders are Jim MacColl, president, Dorothy Rhoads, vice president, and Jane Harrison, secretary.

The class produced a most successful variety assembly program, Those who participated were Ruth Bidwell, Esther White, Bob Miller, Eleanor McClellan, Dorothy Craig, Beatrice Stoors, Raymond Kemp, Beverly Thompson, Dorothy Jensen, Maxine Eurton, Lester Pipkin, Marion Holliday and Mab Foster.

Confederate Student Government

CABINET

Al Haney, president
Mary Jane Adams, secretary of school
Bill Slagle, secretary of social hour
Clara Burkhart, secretary of assemblies
Graham Wilson, secretary of publicity
Dick Wilson and Jeannette Foster, secretaries of interior
Clyde Cordner, secretary of safety

The Confederate Student Government was organized February, 1933 and the Constitution was adopted February 22, 1933.

This is a government organized on the plan of the United States government. It is the only one of its kind in Colorado schools.

The constitution provides for an advisory council for the president, namely, The Cabinet. The cabinet was chosen from the presidents of the clubs at South that are mainly for the purpose of school welfare.

The president, Albert Haney, the vice president, Linden Haney, and the secretary Margaret Mills, were elected by popular vote of the student body the first semester.

Mary Jane Adams, runnerup for secretary, went into office March 13, 1933, when Margaret Mills resigned.

Back Row: Augusta Holland, Dorothy Rhoads, Maxine Eurton, Bertha Cozens, Marjorie Patterson, Mary O'Keefe, Frances Potter, Jane Harrison, Barbara Schaetzel, Virginia Johnson

Front Row: Malcolm Johnson, Lyman Garwood, Howard More, Fred Wilimek, Herbert Chase, Burton Detrick, Fred Hardy, Wilbur Loomis, Bill Fairfield

House of Representatives

Members of the House are presidents of the various clubs. Fred Wilimek was appointed as recorder.

Business affairs of the school are all transacted in bills that are written by members of the student body or of Congress. Each bill must pass the House and Senate before it becomes effective.

The House meets when Speaker Howard More calls for a session. If bills are passed in by students, action is immediately taken. Seventh hour is the usual session period.

Back Row: Jim Babcock, Warner Rhoads, Gerald Ehrhart, Ed Boyd
Front Row: Betty Most, Gladys Lesher, Lorraine Bramblett

Senate

At the first meeting of Congress, four presidents of clubs were elected into the senate. Three other members are the presidents of the sophomore, junior and senior classes.

The Senate meets seventh hour when the necessity to discuss bills is evident.

Linden Haney, vice-president of the student body, is acting president of the Senate, and Gladys Lesher, an appointee to the position of recorder.

Back Row: Bob Phennah, Donald Whitman, Charles Coates, Fred Wilimek, Tom Wood, Graham Wilson, Jim Babcock

National Honor Society

Burton Detrick, president
Rosemary McNutt, vice president
Linnea Alenius, secretary
Alfred Lee, treasurer
Alfhild Alenius, sponsor

The National Honor Society has accomplished a great many worth while things this year and deserves a lot of credit. Their main project was the new study coaching plan. Any student was able to receive help in any subject during his study hour, by going to Room 316. The teachers cooperated very well by sending their students down who needed help but who would not come for help without being sent. Much good resulted from this plan.

Back Row: Ed Hays, Ted Davies, Kemper Parsons, Paul Reeves, Howard Jennings, Alfred Lee, Glenn Hass, Don Austin

Second Row: Harold Flanders, Lillie Wettengel, Howard More, Muriel Hess, Marion Carlyon, Rosemary McNutt, Linnea Alenius, Vinson Webber, Burton Detrick

National Honor Society

The Lost and Found, which is always open before and after school and during the second floor lunch hour, continued under their sponsorship. An auction was held in February of all articles that had been in the Lost and Found over six weeks. Each new member spends two periods a week in the Lost and Found.

The highest honor that a South boy or girl may receive, is membership in the National Honor Society and its members are looked up to as leaders by the entire student body. It upholds the high standards of scholarship, leadership, character and service.

At the beginning of the year there were fourteen active members. On December sixteenth, twenty-one members were initiated and on April 10, twenty-four more received membership. Initiation is not soon forgotten, for after all, Honor Society members can be rough, but when the dust all blows away the initiates can still smile through all the mercurochrome and flour.

Membership in the National Honor Society is something to be proud of and something that will always be a help in winning success.

The Band

South has a band to be proud of. This year, more than ever before, South has found that its band is an integral part of its school activities.

The presence of the fine hundred piece football band at the football games last fall, with formations and letters made on the field during the half, added greatly to the pep and enthusiasm of the crowd.

South contributed several members to the all-city band, that provided the music for the annual Play Festival.

We do not hesitate in saying that at least one assembly program this year was an absolute success. It was the little burlesque, "Cleopatra", given by the Boys' Glee Club. Johnny Baskett, playing the titular role, rocked the house. As a college girl, he vamped several suitors, Antony, Caesar, and Pompey, played respectively by Avery Graham, Dick Speer, and Willis Lee. But his happy lovemakings were constantly haunted by the ghost of King Tut, played by Charles Fernstrom. The multitude determined to attain revenge on the vamp. Finally Cleopatra recognized the ghost as her old lover, Bill. At this rebuff her former suitors died broken hearted but shortly came to life again. The lovers went their happy way.

The boys are in Glee Club to realize a higher standard of chorus work and music appreciation.

Singing is one of the most enjoyable and ever-present recreations. The Girls Glee Club is organized for the purpose of getting the greatest possible pleasure from singing.

Anyone who is interested may sign up for beginning Glee Club. In this class individual voice training is given. From this beginning group advancement may be made to Advanced Glee Club. Here more concrete projects are taken up, such as the Operetta and Music Week program.

On January 25, the combined Girl's Glee Clubs gave a cantata, Light as part of a concert given by the vocal department.

The A Capella Choir

Sponsor—Loraine Nelson

The aim of this worth-while organization is very definite. It has as its purpose the desire to establish in South High, one of the finest types of music. It requires much effort and time, both outside, and in school, to learn a song, which is finished enough to present for any performance.

One of the most outstanding performances, was given at the vocal concert last fall. The choir appeared in their costumes of black robes with white stoles. As well as appearing at school, they have contributed to programs outside of school, proving that South has a successful organization.

It is very evident that during the following years the school may look to the choir, which is yet young, to fulfill its purpose, under the able direction of Miss Nelson.

The Contest of the Nations, something different for South, was staged in the auditorium April 7.

The various Nations of the World assembled to decide, after much agitation, which nation excelled in the art of singing and dancing.

The chorus took the role of the judges, who made the final decision.

Miss Loraine Nelson directed the production, which was suitably accompanied by the orchestra.

Some of the days during the past year have been greatly enlivened by the delightful plays put on by the Drao Club. The first play was Enter the Champion, a delightful play ridiculing youthful conceit; then came the very charming Wedding Rehearsal, and third, a very human drama Wanted Money.

To Miss Alice Aronson, sponsor, is due in a large part the remarkable success of the club.

Sophomore Drama was the first name but was changed to Drao because the members desired to continue next year. The membership consists of forty-three active members.

Truly, such a merry group of players who can turn our troubled minds away from the confusion about us and make us laugh, deserves a rousing cheer and many thanks.

Advanced Drama has had a good season.

Most South students had never seen the plays that were presented: first, the Pilgrim play, Courtship of Miles Standish; then the Spanish drama, Dance of the Red, Red Rose. The third, The Blue Gale dealt with the Mennonites in Pennsylvania. Respectfully Consecrated and Lady and Falcon followed.

We highly appreciate the good work done by this group of students and their sponsor. It would be a long time before we returned if we set out to find another high school group as good as this one.

The Faculty Play

The annual play given by those tyrants of the classroom, the faculty, was presented December 7. The teachers again astounded everyone by their artistry and histrionic ability in their production of the three act play, My Son.

Miss Baron, nobly decked out in a Portuguese costume and a most becoming pair of red earrings, took the lead in the part of Ana Silva. Ana's son, Brouglio, ably portrayed by Mr. Roberts, caused her no end of trouble, first by falling in love with Betty Smith, (why Miss Steere!) then by stealing a necklace. Other characters involved were Mrs. Smith, played by Mrs. Carlson, the shy Rosa Pina, who was Miss Dimm, and Ellery Parker, the sheriff, by Mr. Bush. Mr. Arthur Williams was grand as the old sea-captain and Mr. Randol proved himself to be a great lover.

Altogether the pedagogues proved themselves most able actors.

"The Clean Up" was the title of the Senior play. The cast was chosen by competition. Miss Aronson directed the play.

The play was one very different than any play that had ever been given at South High School this year.

"The Clean Up", which is a three-act comedy, takes place in a small western town. Nina Buckmaster runs for the mayor of the town and because of this fact her husband, John Buckmaster, leaves her. He thinks that his wife is not coming up to his standards of a wife. Nina has for her campaign manager Elizabeth Moore Madison. As the play progresses Nina is elected to the office of mayor and her husband comes back to her because he mistakenly thinks that she has lost and that he should comfort her.

Her Own Money

Miss Rebekah Baron's drama 2 class put on a play, "Her Own Money", in the South High auditorium on January 20, to a large and appreciative audience. It was something different in the way of plays, in as much as there were real chickens in the performance—one banty rooster, and two baby chicks.

Jimmy Hutcheson and Barbara Walker played the leading roles under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Alden. These two were very happy until Mr. and Mrs. Beecher, played by Johnny Baskett and Frances Winters involved them in a money quarrel. Many laughs were caused by this couple in spite of all the trouble they caused.

Pauline Robertson was the sweetheart of Elmo Ballard, and everything was grand except the money problem, which was continuously brought before them by the other two couples.

Mary Jane Adams played exceptionally well the part of the colored maid.

Mr. Collier's Rangers continued to be one of the most prominent clubs at South. Weekend trips to some mountain lodge, Sunday ski trips or to the hills for hikes, swimming, folk-dancing, rifle-shooting, evening parties with movies and games, all challenged every Ranger to a good time.

This year a Junior Ranger group was organized with a membership of 35. These Junior Rangers are eligible for senior membership when they become seniors.

A bus was purchased this winter by a group of Rebel Ranger parents who are incorporated. Thirty-five Rangers enjoyed a four-day trip to the Carlsbad Caverns during Thanksgiving vacation. The bus has also been used by various clubs and chemistry classes.

The qualification for membership in the S Club is making a letter in a major sport. In athletics these fellows have learned the fundamentals of good sportsmanship, have become physically fit, and have learned to think fast and accurately.

The S Club has a room of its own where members go during their study hours. In it, you will find a radio, easy chairs, and everything that goes to make up a cosy club room.

On March 24 the S Club gave an assembly program. It was a rally before the East game. It was very successful and perhaps had a great deal to do with the team's winning the East Game so decisively the next night.

Conspicuous in the halls of South High School are the purple and white jackets which proclaim their wearers to be members of the Rebel Club. Boys wearing jackets with narrow white bands are seniors, while those wearing wide banded jackets are underclassmen.

The Rebel Club was organized with the intention of supporting all school activities. Members are to be seen ushering and taking tickets at assemblies, plays, operettas, and sport events. The club has put on two assemblies and a rally. A dance was given May 19.

Membership is limited to fifty boys.

The Pep Club council consists of two club members from each senior girl's home room. They are chosen by the members of the organization.

Pep Club meetings are the first and third Tuesday and council the second and fourth.

The purpose of council is to settle small matters which are not important enough to be brought up in the club.

Committee chairmen are chosen from this group to supervise the school activities. They are Katie Williams, social; Anna Ruth Hill, school service; Louise Lalor, rally; Gayle Herring, social service; Grace Harlan, membership; Pauline Tipton, program.

The awarding of the basketball letters to the championship team was sponsored by Louise Lalor, at which time the basketball girl was honored in an impressive ceremony.

Ushering at plays given by different organizations of the school is sponsored by the school service committee. Serving at teas and entertaining at teas is also part of their work.

Pep Club

The Pep Club of South High School is an organization that strives to develop an ideal high school girl by precept and example. Members promote school spirit and aid in all activities sponsored by the school.

Purple and white flashers, made by the school service committee, added color and pep to the football games this fall.

November ninth, the club drill team served the football squad a luncheon in the lunch room. To finish the season on the gridiron, the club sponsored the leap year football dance on December 2, which proved to be one of the most successful dances of the year.

Pep Club girls strive to be friendly and to know their fellow class-mates. A delightful bridge luncheon was given for all the members at the Blue Parrot, February 11.

The Girl Reserves are high school members of the world-wide YWCA. They have the privilege of using the Denver YWCA building. There they have classes in swimming, singing, handicraft, marionettes, and stage work at reduced rates. The purpose of the club is to get every girl working on one of the committees which are: financial, social, historical, membership, and service. Their slogan is to face life squarely.

A party for the new members heralded the beginning of the school year. Then, for the benefit of those entering in January, a tea was given. Two girls were sent to the Girl Reserves' conference which is held annually either at Estes or Lookout Camp. A mother-father-daughter banquet was given near Christmas. This year the Girl Reserves' program includes a study of foreign countries. They also gave roller skating and jig-saw parties. On March 14, they gave a program depicting Mexican life, in the Auditorium.

A well known institution at South is the Hi-Y food box in the lunchroom. In this, students place extra food which is then given to those in need of lunches. As the name implies, this food box is sponsored by the South Hi-Y, the local chapter of the international Hi-Y association, which is affiliated with the Y. M. C. A.

The purpose of the organization is "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian living." To this end the members are devoting their club time. They listen to many speakers on various subjects and are undertaking Bible study under Chester Rutledge of the Central Presbyterian church. Good times are not neglected. Hiking, swimming and cabin parties are often indulged in.

The Hi-Y is of inestimable benefit to the school in standing for clean speech, clean living, clean sports and clean scholarship.

Words just come like magic and flow from pen or quill when one of these literary minded individuals gets a paper before him and a pen in his hand. Essays, poems, sketches, and stories are produced by this group that acclaim them to be in truth, the writers of the school.

Each semester, manuscripts, not people, are voted into the club and whoever was the fortunate author or authoress becomes, until his initiation, a fly leaf. Then after a rollicking evening of fun followed by a formal initiation iniatiates become real leaves of the club.

The group meets on Monday afternoons to read, discuss, and criticize the work each member has done. Everyone enjoys this criticism and profits by it.

Triple S has been striving this year to create such a feeling among the members, that they can enjoy the company of one another to a greater extent than heretofore. It is doing this by having "get acquainted" social hours at its regular meetings.

Students who wish to learn ballroom dancing have been given instructions by Mrs. Carlson before school on Tuesdays and Thursdays, all semester.

The society sponsored the assembly program on Friday, February 10. The main objective of the entertainment was to observe Lincoln's birthday. The new members of the club were inducted also. Musical numbers, talks by students and the presentation of membership cards to the new members, completed the program.

Since its organization in October 1932, South's chapter of the National Forensic League has discussed presidential candidates, tax systems, war debts, and Russian recognition. The question for this season was Resolved: The European War Debts Should Be Cancelled.

Dick Wilson roundly denounced capitalism and won second place in the City-wide Kiwanis Contest.

Glen Hass and Frances Winters represented South in the Shafroth contest. Frances spoke on The State Constitution and Glen on Bi-Metallism.

One of the biggest events of the year was the Junior Chamber of Commerce all-city high school oratorical contest on the subject Cancellation of the War Debts and the Return of Prosperity. By a masterly speech in favor of cancellation, Glen Hass carried off first honors, thus bringing the silver cup to South.

South's cadet corps had a very successful year. They passed the Federal Inspection in good form. The annual competitive drill was held at Elitch's gardens the latter part of May. South's company showed up well and won several of the events.

The big social highlight of the year was the Annual Cadet Military Ball held at West High. South was well represented. The girl sponsor presented at the ball was the charming Lillie Wettengel.

The Chemistry Club is one of the many new clubs formed at South last fall. Their aim is to help its members become better acquainted and have a greater appreciation of the applications of chemistry in everyday life. To further this interest, they take field trips to different local business establishments that have chemical applications to every day living.

The club has visited the Brecht Candy Company, The Gates Rubber Company, The Denver Fire Clay Company, and The Continental Oil Refinery. They have also had prominent speakers address them on gold mining, placer mining, hard rock mining, and chemical engineering.

Members of the club wrote and dramatized a clever comedy playlet on water in a spring assembly program.

Membership is restricted to those students who take chemistry.

The Archery Club of South is open to every one possessing a bow and six arrows. During the club hour on Tuesdays, members go into the basement of the school and practice shooting.

The straw they use for the backstop of the target came from Mr. Hanel's farm where he lives just a little way out from town. They had difficulty in setting this back stop up, for, after they had received Mr. Cory's permission to put it up, the fire department ruled that it was too dangerous, so they had to have the bales of straw soaked in chemicals to fire-proof them.

A tournament was held for the boys and girls separately and then one was held for the two together. Although the room is long enough to permit shooting from a distance of 75 feet, the archers may, if they wish, shoot from any lesser distance.

Wendell Markham and Ed Bronstine are among the crack archers. Markham and Bronstine participated in the Goodrich contest and also in the Rocky Mountain open tournament held at Overland Park. In this tournament, Markham won first and second place and Bronstine placed third.

Garbed in wire masks and heavily padded plastrons, with darting foils firmly grasped, the members of the Fencing Club are armed for the fray. With much able coaching from "Pop", and many strenuous bouts and exhibitions of excellent swordsmanship, this club has proved itself active about the school.

The meetings every Wednesday night are held to the tune of clashing steel and the rapid thrusting and parrying of lightning darts of twisting foils. Daring lunges are countered by swift turns of flexible wrists. Finally a sudden lunge places the tip of a rapier on the red felt heart of the opponent. Touch!—the match is won!

The curtain comes down on a most successful year for the Social Service Club. Throughout the school year the club has done one of the most outstanding things to benefit the pupils at South High and the city of Denver.

The Social Service Club is made up of a group of students who have offered their services. Throughout the entire school year they have done a very extensive piece of work.

At the beginning of the semester they established the Commissary for which they called for food and clothing several times during the year.

Many families were given baskets of food at Thanksgiving time. The grade rooms each brought food enough for one family.

At Christmas the club aided the Santa Claus shop, at which time an exhibition was held in the main hall of the school. One large table and two small ones were piled high with toys, food and clothing.

When the programs are supervised and presented by students, their value to the student body as a whole is much greater.

The Fashion Show

The annual fall fashion show, put on by South's home economics department, was held November 16 after school. Approximately one hundred girls modeled dresses for all occasions. Beautiful but inexpensive dresses for formal wear, afternoon, street, sport, house dresses and pajamas which all proved the excellent dress-making ability of our own South girls. The show was very helpful for the girl wishing to choose an appropriate wardrobe.

It was proved that it is much more profitable for a high school girl to make her own clothes.

The Social Hour Committee this year has sponsored two evening dances, the harvest moon dance, and the depression dance, as well as the regular Friday afternoon social hours.

The Committee has helped with two benefits. The Commissary, which provides food and clothing for the needy, was running low on food so the Social Hour Committee decided to help replenish this supply by sponsoring a social where admittance was gained only upon the presentation of a can of food at the door. Needless to say everyone who attended had a good time and the next morning found the commissary shelves completely lined with food. The second benefit the Committee sponsored was the depression dance, the proceeds of which went to help purchase new uniforms for the Band.

At the twenty-one Social Hours this year, students have had a splendid chance to make new friends and acquaintances.

The group feels that there is a definite need for putting those students who have specialized in commercial work in closer touch with the active business and commercial field which they are soon to enter. For the meetings this year, representatives from various businesses have spoken on subjects of interest to office-workers, and have given demonstrations of office machines and equipment. As the club has just been organized, it has presented this type of program with the view to making more definite and comprehensive organization and plans another year.

One of the many projects of the club is the newspaper, Le Commère, published and edited by the members.

They have been taking an imaginary trip to France, this semester, experiencing all the thrills of traveling.

The club has a social event each semester. In the first semester, the members gave an enjoyable tea for their mothers at Mrs. Combs' house. This semester's event was a French cabaret dinner held at a downtown restaurant. French food, French entertainment, and dancing afterwards was the order of the program. The proceeds of the paper paid for these events.

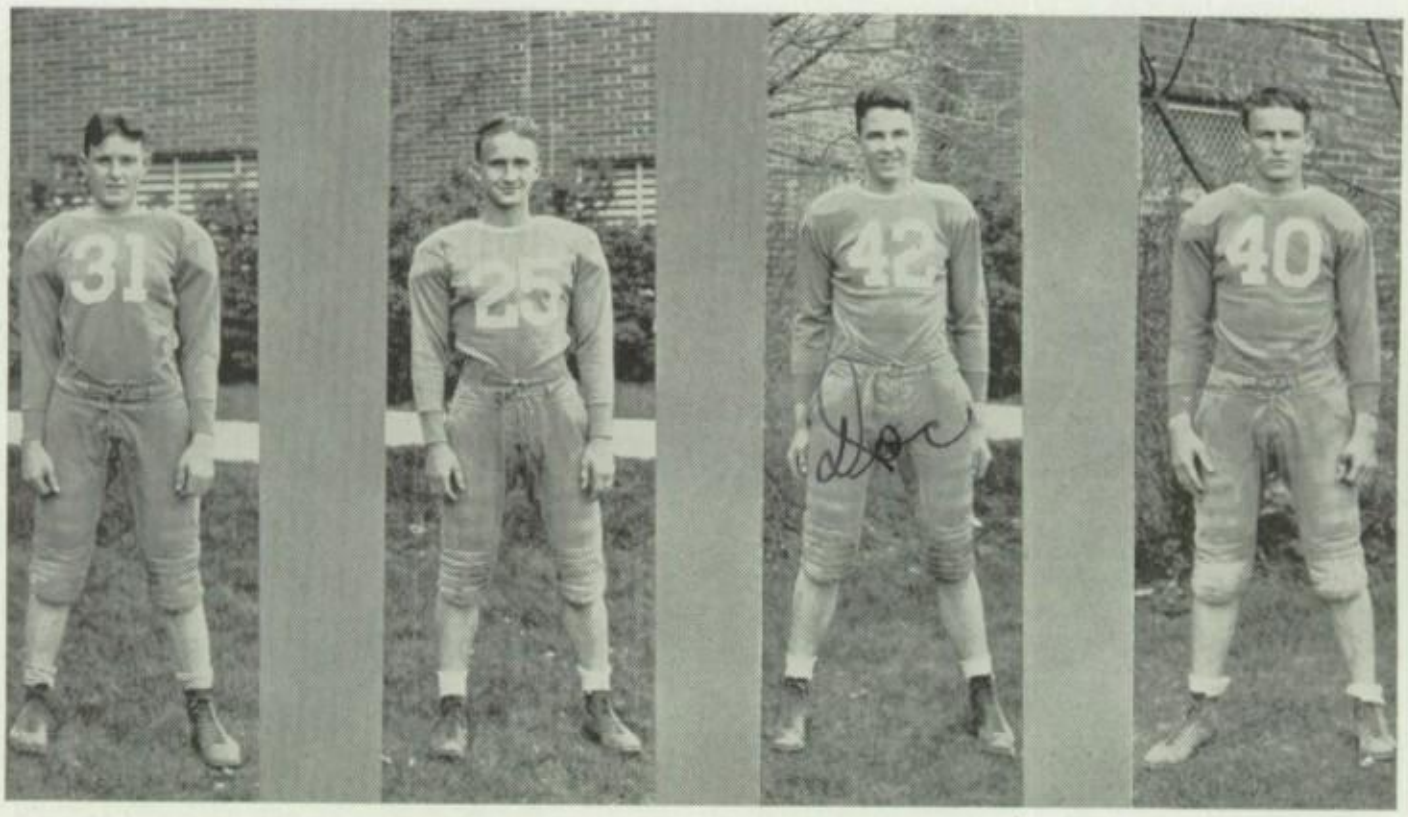
"Little Poison" was one of the lightest, fastest, and toughest backs in the league.

Football

The Rebel gridders, although they didn't win a single game, often outplayed and out-fought their opponents by a wide margin. Going onto the field light, but scrappy, they were by no means a set-up for any of their opponents. In almost every game, breaks gave the foreigners an edge, but the Rebel fighting spirit never died.

Their tricky passing game always had their opponents in hot water and was a constant threat for a score. Besides their excellent game they were undoubtedly one of the fastest and hardest driving teams in the Denver League. The Southern coach said he was never prouder of a bunch of boys and also commented on the excellent spirit shown by the Rebel supporters in every game.



McKelvey
Center

Bill was used at center against certain types of offenses and although lacking in weight his scrap always stood out.

Louthan
Tackle

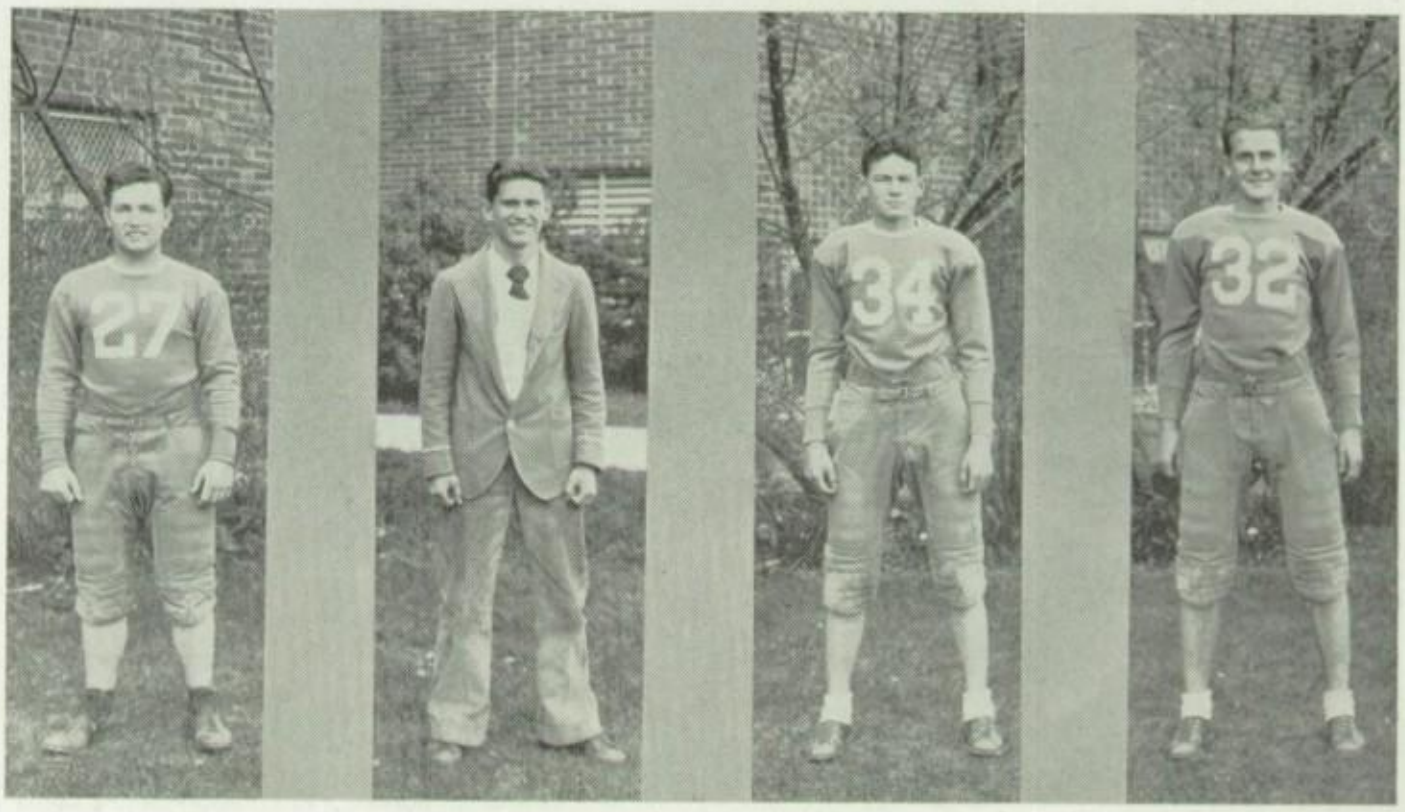
Cats served as relief tackle and gave a good account of himself in every game.

Garwood
Center

Doc's work on defense was a feature of the line play throughout the season.

Haney
Tackle, All-city

Al, playing his third year, was shifted from end to tackle, where his play gained him all city recognition.



Donaldson
Back

Chuck, a junior playing his second year, was a constant threat to the opponents, with his passing.

Beeman
Manager

Ben served as manager throughout the season and proved very efficient.

Koennecker
Back

Jack's ball hugging and hard playing featured the late season games.

Reeves
Back

Paul called signals from the wing back post during most of the season and led the team in grand shape.

WALTMAN
Guard

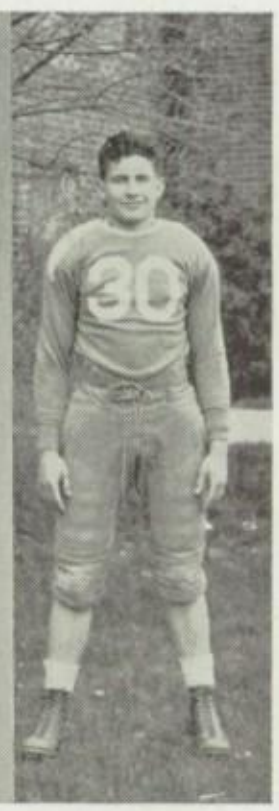
Bert, although handicapped by lack of weight, rendered valuable service at guard.

BOYD
Captain, Tackle

Playing his second year, Ed earned respect and all city mention for his sturdy dependability.

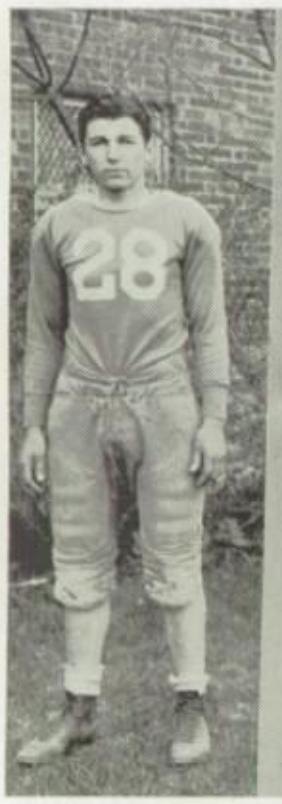
SIBLEY
Back

Sib earned his place by sheer fight and hard blocking.



RHOADS
End

Dusty learned the game rapidly, and, by the end of the season, was one of the best defensive ends in the league.



BRONSTINE
Guard, All-city

In his first year on the team and after a late start, Ed's work marked him for all-city selection.

STOKES
Guard

Playing his second year at blocking guard, Gerry's play cleared the way for the backs in good style.

GLASS
Back

Wes, the only sophomore on the team, played hard at blocking half and was one of the best kickers in the league.

JAENSON
End

Ralph played a regular end after the first game or two, and was exceedingly hard to get around.

The Rebel basketeers started the league season without a returning letterman and were not conceded better than third place in the pre-season forecasts. Under the able coaching of Bill Miller, the team rapidly developed and ended the season in a tie for first place.

JIM BABCOCK
Center, All City, All State

"Jab" improved in every game and by the end of the season proved himself worthy of all state by his great defensive and offensive play.

LYMAN GARWOOD
Center

"Doc", reserve center, played a fine brand of ball capably filling his position and was a menace with his hard to cover shots.

BOB PHENNAH
Forward

Bob played at reserve forward and was known especially for his deadly accuracy on shots near and under the basket.

PAUL REEVES
Guard, Captain

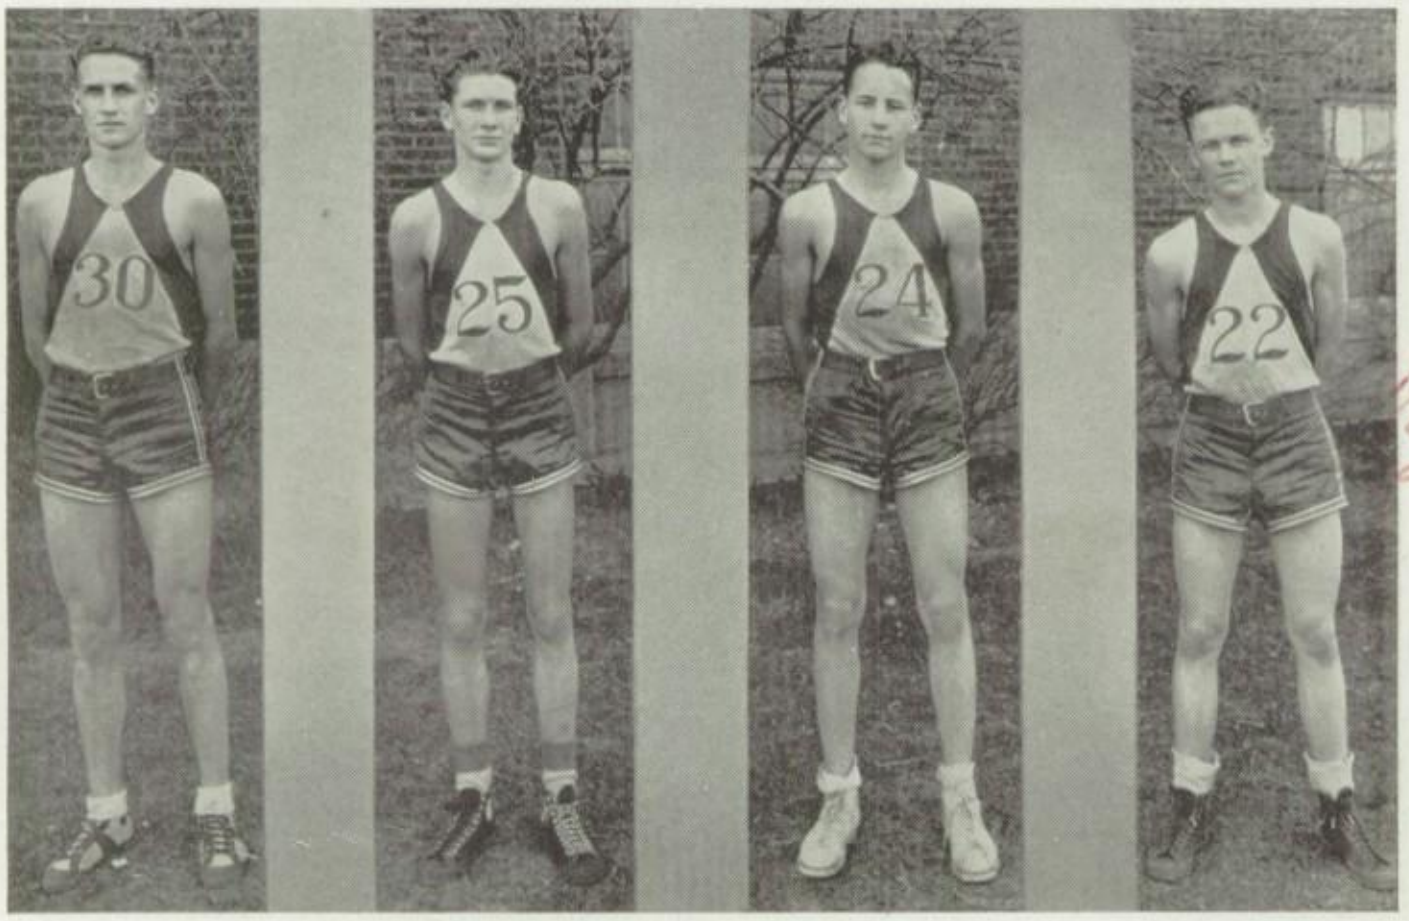
Paul although not a spectacular player was one of the best guards in the state because of his hard, steady and cool playing.

Basketball

SOUTH 29	ARVADA 15
SOUTH 32	GOLDEN 9

In the divisional tournament the Rebels marched through all opposition with ease, to win the championship. Their consistent play and teamwork was the determining factor of their brilliant play.

Entering the state tournament as just another team and picked to fall by the wayside at the beginning of the tournament, the South Denver cagers captured the state title by giving the greatest exhibition of basketball seen in this section in many years. The South quintet composed of Doherty, Young, Babcock, Burr, and Reeves played through the entire tournament without a substitution.



Hugh Amos Doherty

RONNIE YOUNG
Forward, Second All City, Second All State

Ronnie's speed, ball herding, and deadly accuracy when needed was a great factor in making South's cage team one of the first ever produced in the state.

HERBERT CHASE
Forward

Charlie as a reserve forward gave an excellent performance of basketball in every game he took part in. His floor work and fighting spirit stood out.

BILL BURR
Guard, Second All City, Second All State

Bill's excellent offensive work along with his fine defensive work made him one of the biggest threats to all opposing teams.

HUGH DOHERTY
Forward, All City, All State

Amos was chosen as the outstanding player in the state because he was an excellent dribbler, passer, ball rustler, jumper and scorer.

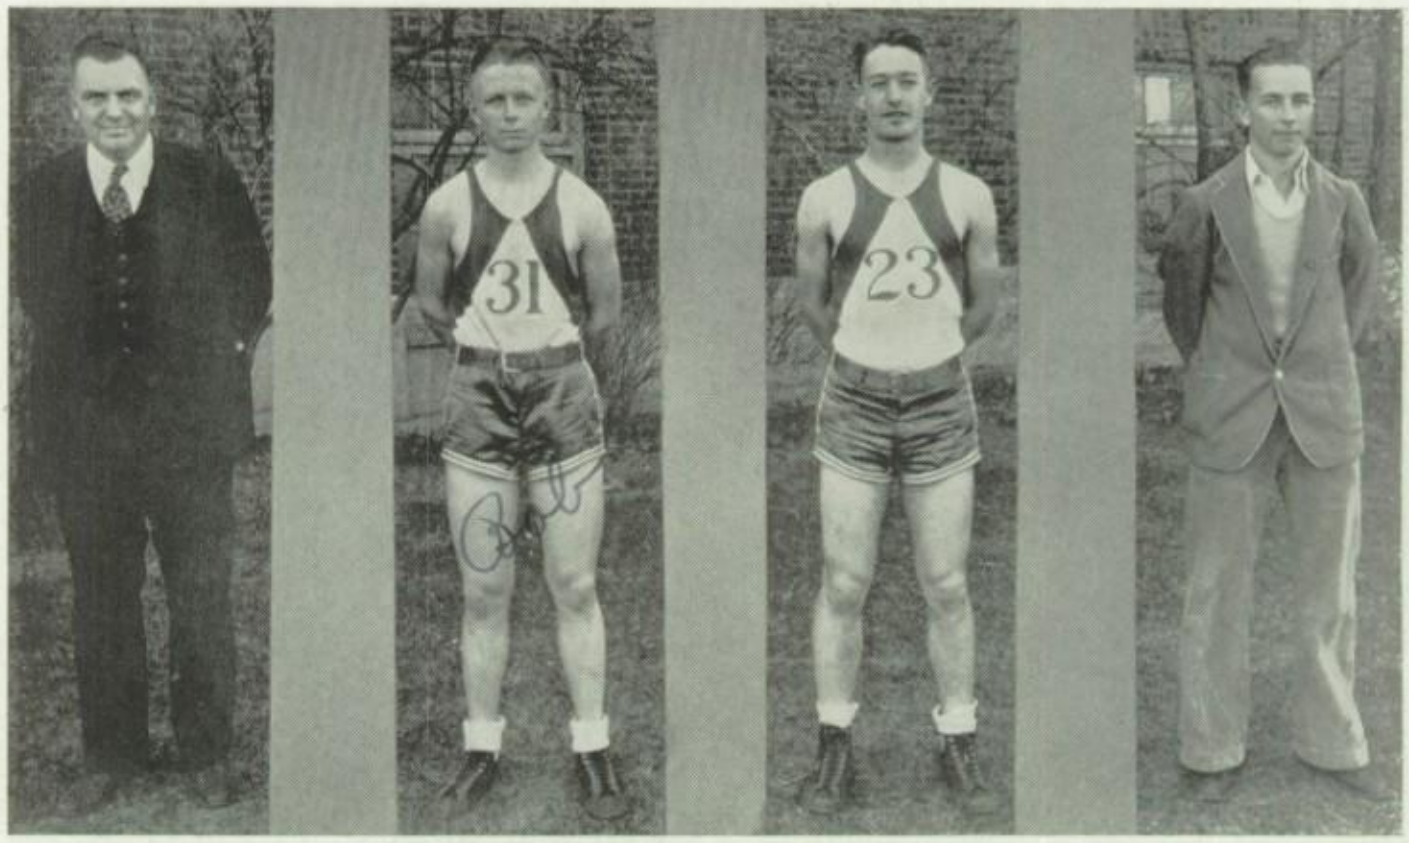
Basketball

SOUTH 30 TRINIDAD 23

South met the miners in the first game and after a late start steadily increased the lead until the final gun went off. The score was 30 to 23 with Doherty taking scoring honors with 12 points. The team as a whole played like one unit and were a marked team for the rest of the tournament.

SOUTH 33 PUEBLO CENTENNIAL 16

In the second game of the tournament South took on the highly-touted Pueblo Centennial team and as usual were rated as the underdogs. Pueblo took the lead as South didn't hit their stride until after the half. The fourth quarter was all South's as the Rebels hit the hoop continually and finally turned the game into a rout.



WILLIAM L. MILLER
Coach
Coaching a perfection type of basketball, Coach Miller turned out one of the best teams ever produced in this state.

BOB GRUENWALD
Guard
"Dutchy", as a reserve guard, excelled in every game he played with his scrappy play and fine defensive work.

STANTON COOK
Guard
Solly, a good all around reserve guard, was known for his spectacular but accurate passes and was always dependable in a pinch.

DICK BAYLES
Manager
Dick as manager proved himself capable of taking care of all equipment in fine style, and was a great help to the team during the entire season.

Basketball

SOUTH 27 FT. COLLINS 22

The crowd went wild as the Rebels came from behind in the last quarter to win 27 to 22. Ronnie Young and Hughie Doherty were the shining lights; the former making 12 points. Jim Babcock turned in his best performance of the year in covering Lew Young, Fort Collins giant center.

SOUTH 28 COLLEGE HIGH 21

In the final game of the tournament the South team again came from behind to coast to the championship. With the result hanging in the balance South had the wallop in the clinch. The score was tied 21 all when Reeves was fouled. He proceeded to drop it in and throw the Rebels into the lead. Burr then came through and snagged a quick pass planting the ball in the net. This gave South a three point lead but just to ice the game, Young caged a goal and Burr came through with two free throws. Burr's great offensive play in this game was a deciding factor.

Baseball

"Pop" Kohl, coaching his first year, developed one of the best nines in the league. The team was very consistent in the field as well as being powerful at the plate. South boasted one of the best pitching staffs in the league with Jack Koennecker and Washington Sturns turning in dazzling performances against Manual and West respectively. Koennecker allowed two hits against Manual in seven innings while Sturns held West to three scratch hits in nine innings and shut them out. Lloyd Phennah, southpaw, and Vernon Andrews completed the staff. The Rebels presented a very well balanced team which rested in second place at the end of three games, having won two games and tied one.

The track team under Mr. Miller had a very good season considering the stiff opposition that was offered them by their opponents. Although they didn't come in first they were always near the top and in the thick of the battle until the last event was over. The team was balanced in the sprints, relays, and field events which made them one of the favorites.

In the Colorado relays the team came through in fine form. They finished third and were only beaten by a few points by the teams that finished first and second. In the triangular and dual meets held during the season they always managed to cop plenty of places and turn in a good performance.

The track team will lose many of its stars through graduation but plenty of good material will be returning next year and probably will give any contender for the title lots of trouble if they in turn don't bring the title to South.

The first tennis championship in twenty-three years was won for South by the 1932 team, coached by Jess M. Randol. The Rebels met East in the final match for the championship and had to win two matches out of the three. They proceeded to make a clean sweep and win every match. DeRusha and Burr were the singles representatives while Gruenwald and Fair played in every doubles match except the one against East where Payne was substituted for Fair and took part in the winning of the championship. The two Holland brothers, Frank and Harold were alternates. During the season the Rebels won nine matches and lost three. East the nearest rival won seven and lost five.

The Golf team under William H. Heagney came through in fine style, taking second place after losing the championship to East in the final golf match of the year. The team had to take six of the nine points to win, but could only garner three of them. Wright and Gillespie were the most consistent players on the team. They were always in the low seventies and could be counted on for points when needed. The rest of the team deserves much credit, too for their fine play during the matches.

The Rebel puckmen had a very successful season. They had the championship in their grasp only to lose it when the schedule for the third round was unfinished. Repeated attempts to play were frustrated when the weatherman failed to freeze the city ponds. This resulted in South being dropped from first to second place when the standings for the second round were used. Coach Norris F. Bush teaching hockey for his first year, turned out a small but mighty team. The whole team composed of Hartman, center; Fyles and Waltman, wings; Hardy, Gillespie and Haney defenses and Mendenhall, goalie; performed remarkably well.

G. A. C.

The Girls Athletic Club is open to any girl in South who is interested in athletics. The club sponsors many minor sports each year besides four major sports. These sports are touchball, volleyball, basketball and baseball. Tennis, archery, horseshoes, track and skating are the minor sports.

Every girl going out for a major sport receives 100 points. Champions have an extra 50 and runner-ups 25 points extra. A felt S is the insignia that certifies a girl has earned 100 points. A chevron is given for each of the next 500 points. A felt D is awarded after a girl has won 750, and a gold D signifies 1000 points. Stars are put on the felt D for every 100 points over 1000.

This year, G A C gave an initiation banquet that proved so successful it is sure to become an annual event. The all-girls social, the annual dance given by the sports club was in the form of a barn-dance this year.

After a girl receives her felt D she automatically becomes a member of the sports club. This club acts as an executive council for the G A C. Its officers are: Shirley Jones, president; and Ruth Martin, secretary.

Froth From the Ark

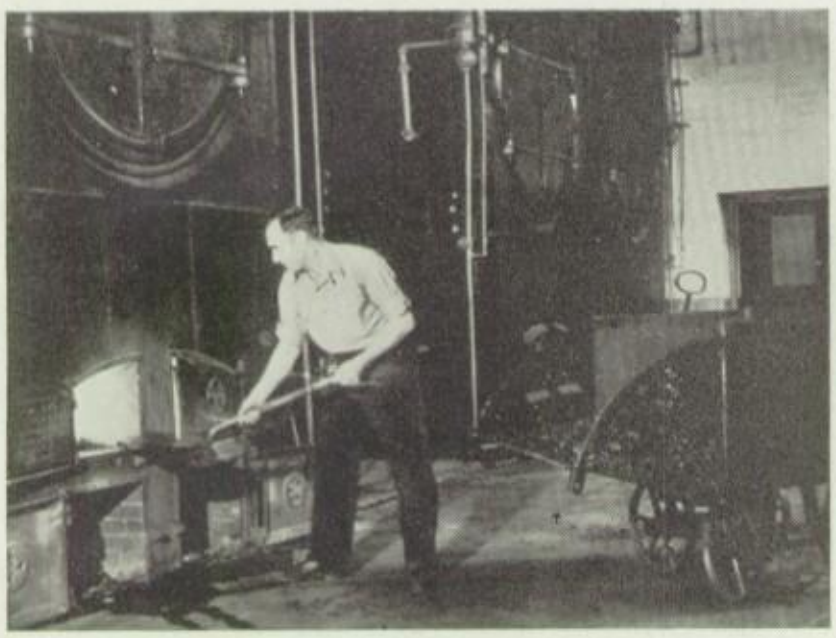
And it came to pass an ark was made. Of stout brick burned thoroughly was it made, and new large stones hewn in a manner most curious and exceeding artful. Many rooms there were made in the ark, and it was mortared without and plastered within. And this was the fashion of which it was made: the length was four score cubits, the breadth, three score cubits, and the height of it three score cubits. Many windows and varied there were made in the ark. And the doors of the ark were set in the sides thereof. And engraven in stone above the main door were images of the crew, even the faculty thereof. With lower, second, third and fourth stories it was made, and a tower was built whose top did reach into the sky.

MARIE SPRAGUE

And into this ark did enter pupils of which there were many. Every girl with her boy friend and the boys who see not the girls but walk alone went in. Male and female, after their kind, each to his accustomed place.

And there is a room, the ark within, whence cometh at times odors exceeding strange, and unfortunate. The name by which this room is called is the Chem Lab, a name mightily odd. Howbeit this room is sometimes thought to be an abomination of the children of South.

Then there is yet another room builded for the diligent. It containeth many volumes, and scrolls of great worth. They, who attend, make much use thereof. Yet many there are who come, not for the perusal of tomes offered, but for the avoidance of those halls built for study.



CHUCK COATES

There is built in the room of the ark wherein all business of the ark is conducted, a bench of gopher wood. If there be pupils of great disorder, or if one annoy his neighbor or bringeth confusion unto his teacher, he is made to sit upon this bench and ponder upon his sins! Yea verily!

And it came to pass when the crew of the ark, even the faculty, thereof, did witness how exceeding careless the students had become, they did gather together in one place and did discuss it. After much disputation they did decide thusly: foreasmuch as it was greatly needed, a room should be dedicated to the noble purpose of finding owners for articles lost and articles found. And it was done.

HOWARD JENNINGS

And in this ark there existeth, deep in the bottommost part, a great and roaring monster that giveth off steam. And this monster, oft hungry, doth ope wide its jaws. Then one, son of Rector, doth feed this monster much and often that it should continue to give forth steam to warm the bodies of the pupils.

There is a room, important above all others, which is called by the name of Lunch Room. Herein the students do stave off hunger and famine that is apt to overtake them during the long and wearisome day.

Now there is a certain room of the ark and its name is the S Club Room. Herewithin, those, who by their strength prevail, do recline on soft couches as reward of their prowess. These mighty men of South oft gaze upon the emblems of their valor. Even upon balls and bats and javelins which do line the walls of their room. Herein they that are girded with strength do find sweet repose.

They who have the task of daily cleansing these several rooms and chambers perform their duties with merriment and mirth. And much is the scandal they learn from epistles lost. Amongst them, there are oft messages from Bill to Frances or Jim to Betty or even from Pauline to Ed. Therefore is their task made joyful and instructive withal.

Now it came to pass that a certain teacher of the name of "Pop" Kohl did gather together in one place pupils of the host of the high school of South Denver to instruct them in the ancient art of fencing. They put helmets of strong wire mesh upon their heads and they girt themselves about with protectors of quilted cotton. Then they grasped swords in their hands and drew nigh unto each other. And the noise of the conflict waxed great and the building shook with a very great trembling.

And it came to pass that one Ruth Newlon, chief scribe of the tribe of Rebels did call together into one place all the lesser scribes and spake unto them saying.

JIM BABCOCK

ROSEMARY MCNUTT

Arise, take unto yourselves tablets of paper that is yellow and pencils of lead and write, for the time is short and the day cometh when the Chronicles of the Children of South must be complete lest the news wax old and the jokes be stricken with age. And the scribes did sit themselves down in one place and did as they were commanded.

And these are the flower of the Confederacy in the bud. Now without the ark there abideth a certain man oft designated as the "Pop Corn Man". And the moving cart in which he stayeth doth contain food of the whiteness of manna, and milk and honey bars. Hereunto the hungering children of the tribe of Rebels come oft and with pieces of silver do prevail upon this man to part with his goods.

And amongst the several rooms is one of great interest to all who excel by reason of their large and hardy muscles. Therein do athletes cleanse and clothe their bodies after their exertions. Moreover he who is named William of that mighty tribe of Miller doth preside and assume command of this domain.

MARTHA JOY
AND

And it came to pass in the one thousand nine hundred and thirty third year of our Lord, in the 12th month of the year, the 16th day of the month, the learned of the tribe of Rebels did assemble, to gather unto themselves more of their kind. And with merriment and mirth did they watch the antics of these creatures. And Graham Wilson did perform a dance exceeding pleasing. And Chuck, son of Coates had hidden his locks of Titian hue, and did appear as a striking damsel, of raven tresses. Yea verily.
